

Views from Russia

Here are some of the first photographs taken in Russia since the ban on foreign photographers was lifted. This picture shows Leon Trotsky and a German delegate named Sax who openly criticized Lenine.
---Kadel & Herbert.

Views taken during the sessions of the Third Internationale. Photograph shows Zimoviev, chief commissioner of Petrograd, orating in Red Square at Moscow.
---Kadel & Herbert.

Col. W. N. Haskell, just before he sailed for Russia, where he will be in charge of American Relief work.
---International.

Here is a typical Bolshevik crowd in Moscow. They are listening to a speech made by Lenine during the Third Internationale.
---Kadel & Herbert.

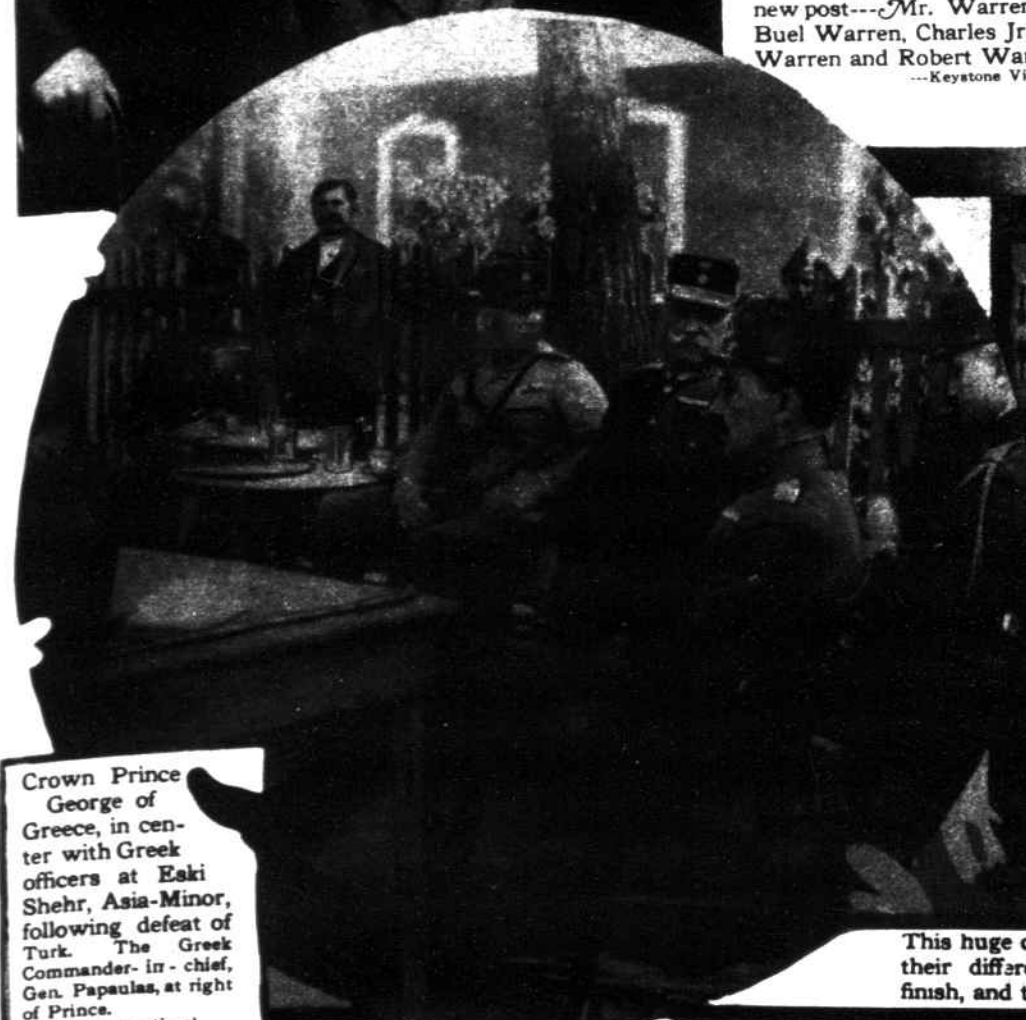

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt, speaking at the Duchess County, New York, fair showed characteristics and attitudes genuinely reminding of the great father.
---Wide World Photos.

Charles B. Warren, new ambassador to Japan on his way to his new post---Mr. Warren, John Buel Warren, Charles Jr., Mrs. Warren and Robert Warren.
---Keystone View Co.

News in Pictures

Crown Prince George of Greece, in center with Greek officers at Eski Shehr, Asia-Minor, following defeat of Turk. The Greek Commander-in-chief, Gen. Papoulas, at right of Prince.
---International.

This huge canvas, now hanging in the rooms of the Gridiron Club at Washington, consists of 666 pictures, illustrating the history of the nations of the world and their different religions. It is the work of Dr. L. B. Sabunje, formerly secretary to Sultan Abdul-Hamed Khan II of Turkey, and required 36 years to finish, and the efforts of eight different artists working under the Doctor's direction. The painting is valued at $1,000,000.
---Wide World Photos.